

EqLD Ltd – What we do

Location Data:

EqLD provides bespoke, accurate, up-to-date diversity data for specific geographical areas. We pull together equalities data from a range of open sources to provide relevant diversity data profiles.

We present the information in an accessible and interactive dashboard. This can be used by staff throughout your organisation, supporting them to make informed decisions. This is a tool that can be used to make business decisions that are inclusive and informed, as well as to fulfill your equality responsibilities.

Location data services include:

- Diversity data sourcing
- Diversity data gathering and collection
- Data analysis and interpretation
- Bespoke diversity data dashboard

We help you identify the geographical areas you need to cover, as well as which diversity datasets (such as age, ethnicity, or first language preference) are most relevant to you. Please get in touch to learn more about what datasets we can provide.

The information is provided in a format that enables you to compare locations with each other, or with regional and national trends. We can also regularly update your information to ensure it remains fit for purpose.

EqIA Training:

In addition to our location-based equalities data service, we support clients with equality impact assessments (also known as EqIAs). We offer bespoke workshops for your team members, and can be tailored to the experience your team has on the subject.

We offer workshops for all stages of the EqIA process. Beginning with an overview session; we also offer workshops on authoring, reviewing, and signing off EqIAs; and sessions on public sector equality duty.

We run sessions with up to 15 people, and can run workshops online or in person, depending on your needs.
